GAUZE MASKS ORDERED ON

DEATH COMES TO FIFTEEN OF INFLU VICTIMS

Just when physicians believed that the influenza epidemic was beginning to get under control more cases broke out than ever before in a similar period and before the past forty eight hours had passed 234 new cases had been reported and fifteen deaths recorded.

Realizing that drastic steps must be taken the physicians turned for help to Red Cross headquarters and scores of women began turning out gauze masks. Every one, especially persons employed in meeting people, are asked to wear them.

The masks are to be given free and anyone applying to the Red Cross headquarters will be supplied. They are not the most convenient thing in the world, physicians admit, but they are an almost certain protection against the germ.

Volunteer nurses are also sought. Any woman can secure $4 per day for her services. Miss McNiel will remain at the public library to receive enlistments.

A dozen tents are to be asked of government officials so that those asking accomodations at the Craven hospital can be supplied.

The library has been closed and carmen especially, are asked to wear the masks. Last night it was said, that both undertaking parlors were arranging for the funerals of the victims so that they can be held immediately.

$120,000,000 MORE IS ASKED FOR SHIP CONSTRUCTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—An additional $120,000,000 for ship construction, making a total for that purpose of $3,004,000,000, was asked of Congress by the Shipping Board. The Senate appropriations committee was asked to include the increase in the military deficiency bill now under consideration.

REPLY VERY AWKWARD IS VERDICT HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Germany's reply to President Wilson as received today by wireless is regarded here as an awkward attempt to accept the terms of an armistice laid down by President Wilson. It is believed to be certain that the wireless version is garbled to an extent and officials will await the arrival of the official text before reaching conclusions. In the meantime there will be no official comment.

Even unofficially no one will express an opinion of what the President will think of the note, though the general impression seems to be that it at least does not close the door to further exchanges. Upon the exact language of the official text may depend whether the President will consent to propose an armistice to the allied powers. Denials of the Germans that atrocities have been committed are immaterial, the important thing is that atrocities now apparently have been ordered stopped.

As to negotiations for a permanent peace with the German government as now constituted, that is a question quite aside from a cessation of hostilities under conditions imposed by the allied commanders in the field. Before such negotiations are entered into, the President must be satisfied that the German war lords are powerless to reassume control, if they now actually are out of control.

ARCHIE HOWES IS OFF FOR THE EAST

Archie Milton Howes, known among Standard Oil guards as "the man in white" and more recently as "the sky pilot" because his post is "the high line," has left for his home, Erie, Pennsylvania, to bury a favorite niece whose guardian he has been for ten years. She was engaged to be married on October 5th, took influenzaz, and died of pneumonia Sunday morning in her 21st year. He will remain long enough to adjust the legal complications caused by her death in settling her mother's estate. She was an orphan and sole heir.

Sneers At Gauze Mask and Lands In City Jail

Stating that he would not wear a gauze mask and sneering at Health Officer Dr. Charles R. Blake, brought W. D. Adams, 323 Twenty-first street, conductor on the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways to grief last night.

Dr. Blake was talking with Superintendent Charles P. Donnelly, relative to putting a general order in effect today for all motormen and conductors to wear gauze masks.

Adams approached the physician and with an oath declared he was not going to wear a mask and is alleged to have become very insulting. Blake became wrathy and swore to a complaint charging Adams with disturbing the peace. He will appear in court at 10:30 o'clock this morning. He was released on bail last night.

Labor In Favor of an Additional Court of Appeal in State

The California State Federation of Labor, at its recent convention at San Diego, endorsed unanimously Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 45, creating two additional divisions of the District Court of Appeal to relieve the congestion in the supreme court which is three years behind with its work.

This amendment appeals directly to the working man and his family for the creation of these additional divisions will assure litigants of a speedier hearing of their cases on appeal.

Labor is vitally interested in speedy decisions in all cases involving damages for personal injuries. At present the worker who is injured in an industrial accident cognizable by the Industrial Accident Commission is, in case of an appeal, assured of a speedy hearing because the law guarantees it to him by putting such cases in a preferential class that the Supreme Court must dispose of immediately.

STREET CARS ARE DISEASE SPREADERS

Ninety per cent of the cases reported to the Health Officer of Spanish influenza have originated on the street cars and trains. This was the statement of Health Officer Dr. Charles R. Blake last night.

"I would warn every person to wear a mask or keep their handkerchief to their face when riding on cars of any sort" state Blake yesterday. "Keep off the street cars if possible."

FIGHT JUST BEGUN SAYS SHIPPING HEAD

"No shipworker must think that the war is nearly over, for America has just begun to fight," is the substance of a telegram received by State Council of Defense yesterday from Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, which the latter asks be distributed amongst Pacific coast shipyards.

The telegram sets forth that during the coming months the efforts of America, both on the battle line and in the war industry plants, will yield results. It says in part.

"Every ton of shipping constructed now is needed to carry our boys to France. Do not go by the war map. That still needs a lot of changing and the enemy still needs a lot of licking. Tonnage will win the war and bring permanent peace."

HUNS DECIDE GOVERNMENT BY PEOPLE NEEDED

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Germany has agreed that conditions of an armistice should be left to the military advisers and that the actual stand[illegible] fields should form the basis for arrangements.

Announcement is made of a fundamental change in the German constitution providing for representation of the people in the decision concerning peace and war. It is said that the present government has been formed in complete accordance therewith.

No further German government will be able to take or hold office unless it possesses the confidence of a majority of the Reichstag, the note announces.

Germany protests against the references of President Wilson to illegal and inhumane acts. Denial is made that the German navy purposely destroyed lifeboats with passengers. The German government proposed that the facts be cleared up by a neutral commission.

The German government suggests to President Wilson that an opportunity be brought about fixing the details of the evacuation of occupied territories.

Germany claims the sanction of international law for carrying out destruction of property during retreats and says her troops are under strict instructions to spare private property and care for the population to the best of their ability. Where transgressions occur, the note says, the guilty are being punished.

THE PRESIDENT'S MAIL WIGGLES TILL SUNDOWN

("The Old Man" of this newspaper has been sick in bed for over a week, and very ill at that, but don't seem to be quite ready to croak yet, judging by the tone of the following editorial he sat up in bed and scribbled off last night—Reporter.)

When you set your heel on the head of a serpent and think you have killed it, still the slimy reptile's tail will wiggle until sundown. That is true of every serpent, and especially of the Booze Serpent, which has a million tails and only one at a time stops wiggling at sundown.

We find evidence right here in Richmond, but a few days ago, of another of its tails that wiggle, and with it the most shameful and disgraceful example of what the average saloon keeper is that could well be imagined.

Our city is in the grip of a terrible malady, thousands are down with it, many have died and more are dying every day. There are not doctors and nurses to care for all who are ill. Drug stores are working day and night and sometimes up to the great load of prescription work. It is a highly contagious epidemic and the first steps taken in many other localities where it has been bad is to absolutely stop all public gatherings of whatsoever nature, and allow no gatherings of people, big or little, under any circumstances.

Accordingly, this was done in Richmond, by order of the public health authorities, and all schools, churches, theatres, lodges, societies and everything of that nature ceased to operate at once, even including the city council. They were all glad to do what they could to help save the people here, their friends and fellow citizens, from the disease and from possible death because of it.

They were all glad to do so, we said, but that must be qualified—all but the saloon keepers! The dispensers of booze roared their fool heads off and positively refused to obey the official orders of the Health Department!

Now, friends, pause right here and give this matter the consideration it is entitled to.

We ask you in all fairness, what do you think of a set of men who would rather see their fellow citizens become diseased, and die, than even for a short time forego their ill-gotten and blood-reeking profits on the sale of whisky and other rotgut booze!

We leave it to you. What is your verdict, Certainly such people have no respect or consideration coming from any decent man or woman.

The authorities finally forced them to close.

CHRISTMAS PACKAGES TO RICHMOND BOYS OVERSEAS

On account of the shortage of tonnage the Christmas gifts to our boys in France will be restricted to package to each man and this package may be sent by the "next to kin" only, must be packed in a standardized box furnished by the Red Cross and accompanied by a coupon also issued by the Red Cross.

Mr. H. D. Chapman of the local Red Cross is working on the matter now and in a few days will publish full instructions for the families of Richmond soldiers.

The complete text for the War Department rules for overseas Christmas gifts is as follows:

"The War Department authorizes relatives or friends of officers and soldiers in France to send Christmas packages, which will be of standard size and weight, one to each individual in the American Expeditionary Forces. A standard container to be used will be 9 by 4 by 3 inches, and the weight limit will be three pounds. Standard containers of the size indicated may be had by application to the local Red Cross chapters throughout the country. In order to insure the arrival of these Christmas packages in France and their distribution to the soldiers by Christmas, all such packages must be mailed on or before November 15, 1918.

In order to insure the limitation of one package per man, which in itself will consume a very large amount of tonnage, a plan has been worked out by which General Pershing is forwarding to the War Department coupons on which are inscribed the correct names and addresses of the members of the American Expeditionary Forces. These coupons will be distributed, and no package will be forwarded without a coupon."

All packages must be delivered unsealed to the local Red Cross Chapter where they will be inspected and sealed and handed over to the postal authorities.

The question has already been raised in Richmond as to where the sweetheart comes in on the Christmas package. There is only one thing for soldier's sweethearts to do, under the circumstances, she must get in touch with the "next of kin" and ask for space in the one box that may be sent.

FORCED TO THE LIMIT

President Wilson has decided it is imperative, if the future peace of civilization is to be safeguarded, that the war must continue until the Kaiser and the autocracy, of which he is the headstone, have been kicked out.

He has stated plainly and unmistakably that the people of the United States will not listen to any overtures from a German government controlled by the men responsible for the war and the terrible atrocities that have followed in its wake.

It is the verdict of the United States and Great Britain and France and Italy that the much-heralded democratization of the German government is mere subterfuge and propaganda intended to divide the allies who, breast to breast, have crossed the threshhold of full victory.

There is no doubt but the events of the last few weeks or days have united the allies more closely than at any time since the United States became a participant. It has become more and more apparent that the German mind, as we know it, is incapable of any decency in its dealings with other nations.

Germany began a propaganda for peace and made a pretense of changing its form of government. It pretended its war lords had been displaced; that the liberal thinkers had at last obtained control of the government.

Since Prince Maximilian became chancellor of the supposedly new government several of the greatest horrors of the war have been perpetrated. The Leinister, a channel passenger boat plying between Ireland and England, was torpedoed and hundreds of women and children lost; German submarines have continued to shell life boats filled with helpless civilians and the burning of the occupied cities in France has been speeded up.

This shows either Prince Maximilian and his peace doves are as treacherous and as blood thirsty as the Kaiser or probably both.

The allies will establish a form of government in Germany to suit themselves.

Any new peace discussions will be conducted by General Foch and Field Marshal Haig and General Pershing and the only message they will ever send back to the Germans will be two words, "unconditional surrender."

Titles are given some men in lieu of pay.

A great many automobiles and men are just junk.

BELL IS IN BED WITH SPANISH 'FLU'

Theodore A. Bell, Democratic-Independent candidate for the Governorship, has learned that the Spanish influenza is no respector of persons, and that a man's aspiration for high office, with but a short time to work for the same, is no bar to the busy little germ.

For Bell is confined to his home today with an attack of the well-known "flu." It's mild, though, says Al Baum, Bell's publicity secretary, and the gubernatorial candidate is keeping in touch with things via telephone. Bell expects to be out before the middle of the week.

Avon	20,700
Port Costa	27,750
County Total	$1,888,800

From all over the county reports continued to pour in Monday showing that the over subscription to the Fourth Liberty Loan will be about $310,000. The six billion dollars was the largest amount raised by any one nation during the period of the war and the fact that it was over subscribed speaks volumes for the country and its people.

Charles J. Crary and W. A. Hale, who handled the loan subscriptions in this county desire to extend their thanks to the public for the manner in which they responded.

With every quota point in the county "over the top" the Liberty Loan drive is drawing to its close today. The many quota facing the county was handled with a host of hard workers in the ranks of the committees and great credit belongs upon the county for the splendid patriotic response made to the call for help for our soldier sons here in France.

The totals given above are the official figures reported to Chairman W. A. Hale, in charge of the county drive. In some instances these totals do not show the quota points to have gone over the top but advices received at noon Saturday from every one of the cities and towns listed show that the quota has been safely passed.

Approximately 22,000,000 persons or 20 per cent of the nation's population, subscribed to the Fourth Liberty loan, official reports today indicated.

This is about a 20 per cent increase in individual sales over the third loan, when 18,300,000 persons bought bonds.

Of the Fourth loan more than $5,000,000,000 already is expended. There will be none of the Fourth loan money left after the middle of November at the present rate of war expenditures.

BRITISH NEAR VALENCIENNES WHILE GERMANS FLEE

LONDON, Oct. 21—British troops are approaching St. Amand, eight miles northwest of Valenciennes, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

Contact with the enemy is being maintained. The British also are nearing the line of the Scheldt north of Tournai.

In their drive against Valenciennes from the southwest, English Scottish and Welsh troops, fighting in a rainstorm, shattered desperate resistance by the Germans in villages along the railway line. Tanks went forward with the infantry and crossed the flooded Selle river.

WOMEN FLOCK TO FACTORIES

Employers Are Now Paying Living Wages and No Shortage of Female Workers Is Reported.

Although the substitution of women for men has not proceeded as far in Chicago as in other sections, where war work has been more plentiful, the minimum wage for women has been removed from the field of political issues.

No longer can employers be accused of refusing to pay enough to keep girls decently. The old policy of paying women starvation wages, and then supplementing their pay with bonuses, usually ending in a "tip," has been abandoned. Now it requires $15 to $18 for a girl who will stick on the job.

This wage is unconditional. Still more to be made higher still. So far there has been no shortage of women for factory work. Trained factory hands are scarce, but employers some time since began to accept untrained girls. Of this class there has been a plentiful supply, taken from the kitchens of families that are getting along without servants, from laundries that have suffered a loss of business because so many young men are not wearing white collars, and from other lines of work which the war has reduced.

Not a few wives of drafted men have gone into industrial work. It is surprising, say the employment bureau officials, how many young men refused to claim exemption though they would have been entitled to it. Not only young wives with children to support, but old mothers, whose sons have gone to war, have applied for work and been taken into shops and factories.

Employers are reluctant to take women over thirty-five years old, and the employment officials says this is to be regretted, as oftentimes they would make the best employees. The complaint against them is that they slow down in turn.—Chicago Journal.

"More Coal!" War Chiefs' Cry.

Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Haig, and Admiral Beatty, commander in chief of the grand fleet, sent messages to the meeting of the coal miners' federation at Southampton, England, urging a greater output of coal.

"Coal is the key to victory. The miners of Great Britain must help me," was the message from Marshal Foch.

Baron Calthrop, the coal controller, told the miners that the supply was 36,000,000 tons short this year. Baron Calthrop said that among other factors making for an increased demand was the increasing flow of American troops to France. Last autumn American requirements were only at the rate of 600,000 tons per annum, but from now on they will represent millions of tons.

Labor Lack Cuts Copper.

Labor difficulties and the enormous demand are reflected in the copper mining industry of the upper peninsula in Michigan. The shortage of men has become serious, and it is understood the federal law will be invoked by the producers. A majority of the workmen who are leaving are taking up work in Detroit war material factories at shorter hours and higher pay. The result is shown by the decrease in copper produced during July, with indications pointing to a still greater decrease during August.

Idlers Forced to Work in Maryland.

George Mahone of the state compulsory work bureau, on the first anniversary of the Maryland law, the results of which have been closely observed by the officials of other states, several of which have already adopted it, said that his records show that 2,881 idlers have been compelled to go to work during the year. Of this number 1,534 registered under compulsion. Writs were issued for 985 idlers in Baltimore. Five hundred and twelve hearings were held in the police stations.

Historic Guns to Speak Again.

Two six-inch guns reposing peacefully for several years in a Seattle park, but which 20 years ago, mounted on the decks of the gunboat Conrad, aided Admiral Dewey in capturing Manila, are once more to take part in the war against autocracy. This time they will play a silent but important part. The Seattle park board has been asked by the navy department to send the guns to Puget Sound navy yard at Bremerton, Wash., there to be used in training naval recruits in the art of handling big guns.

Compensation Act Sustained.

The state supreme court has ruled that the Wyoming workmen's compensation law is constitutional.

WORKS WHILE HE WAITS FOR GROUP B. MEN

Adjutant General Borree, in a communication to draft board stated that on account of the Spanish influenza epidemic now prevalent it is deemed advisable that no Group B registrants be operated upon until further instructions to that effect are issued.

This class includes men physically unfit for general military service on account of minor physical ailments or defects, such as hernia, but who might be placed in class one after operations. Sometime ago an appeal was made to such men to volunteer to have performed the necessary surgical work, the state to bear all expenses defraying all hospital and physician's fees.

Henry Albers, president of the Albers Brothers Milling company, with establishments at Oakland, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, San Francisco and Los Angeles, was arrested at Portland yesterday by a deputy United States marshal on the charge of violating the espionage act. Affidavits held by United States District Attorney Haney define the charges against Albers.

NEW FOOD PROGRAM TO GO INTO EFFECT

The new program for food saving in public eating places became effective today throughout the country. Preparations have been made by the California Food Administration for vigorous enforcement in this state of the rules and regulations, which are mandatory.

Eating places which wilfully violate the orders will be deprived of sugar supplies for an indefinite period, Food Commissioner Merritt said today.

Under the new program restaurants and hotels and all public eating places, including dining car and steamship services, clubs and boarding houses, are prohibited from more than one teaspoonful of sugar to one person at on meal; toast and bacon are prohibited as garnishings, no bread must be brought to the table until the main course has been served, butter and American cheese portions are restricted to one-half ounce per person at a meal and the sugar bowl are eliminated from tables, in addition to other restrictions.

Attention under the new program is directed chiefly to the conservation of bread and butter, cereals, meats, sugar and cheese of certain kinds. Unnecessary suppers, teas and banquets are condemned as "fourth" meals. America's pledge to save and export 17,500,000 tons of food to the army and navy and the allies prior to June 30 next, will be materially aided by the strict observance of the new regulations in view of the fact that 9,000,000 persons yearly dine in public eating places, food officials said.

Nurses Waive Eight Hour Law Privilege

Nurses in all hospitals and women employed in drug stores are foregoing the protection of the state eight-hour law during the influenza epidemic, according to the statement of John P. McLaughlin, state labor commissioner.

"The nurses are working day and night with heroic self sacrifice," said McLaughlin. "I have received a few complaints of violations of the eight-hour law, but, while this office has no authority to suspend the operations of the law, I have advised against any action being taken for its strict enforcement in occupations affected by the present emergency."

ORANGES AND LEMONS TAKE LEAP IN PRICE

Oranges and lemons, which have been recommended by physicians as an effective aid in checking the spread of Spanish influenza, have advanced in price within the last few days as much as $4 a box for the best variety of oranges, and numerous complaints are being made. For the reason of the sudden upward tendency, wholesale commission men state that increased demand has necessitated an advance in price.

AMERICANS DOING THE MOST DIFFICULT FIGHTING

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 21.—German prisoners state that Germany made arrangements to evacuate France before the peace note was sent to President Wilson. These prisoners remarked:

"The Americans have the worst blood-letting sector of the entire line. Every foot of ground is to be disputed until the German retirement from the sea region is completed."

The line is quiet today.

Here's Your Chance To Get To France Within Few Weeks

Uncle Sam's Motor Transport Corps is in urgent need of 20,000 able-bodied mechanics (mostly motor truck drivers, motor repairers and skilled mechanics) for immediate service at the front in France and Belgium, according to official notice received today from the Military Training Camps Association.

Following is a list of men called for: Blacksmiths capable of spring making, carpenters, chauffeurs, tool room machinists, general machinists, motorcycle repairer or driver, electric plater, repairer of radiators, roadsters, trouble shooters (auto), truck masters, welders.

Application for this service, with assurance of early dispatch across seas, may be filed at the rooms of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce room 114 at the University of California, and at room 1020 Mills building, San Francisco. Only those who are well qualified should apply for these positions, is the word that comes from the War Department.

The official letter adds: "The urgency of this call cannot be overestimated. It would not be made if it were not imperative to get the men, train them and send them to France in a shorter time than it would be possible if the transport corps waited for the men to be drafted, sent to depot battalions and sifted out there. You can perform a patriotic service even if you get but one man from your city."

FEWER ACCIDENTS AMONG WORKERS

Number of Fatalities Has Been Reduced One-Third in the Last Five Years.

MINOR MISHAPS AT MINIMUM

Result of Educational Campaign Has Been Most Gratifying—Safe Practices and Safety Thinking Spreading Among Employees.

The number of fatal accidents in the United States has been reduced one-third in the last five years and the number of less serious mishaps has shown a still greater reduction, W. H. Cameron, general manager of the national safety council, told delegates to the seventh annual Safety congress, held at St. Louis.

"Five years ago the most accurate statistics available showed that 35,000 men and women lost their lives every year through industrial accidents," he said. "Hundreds of thousands suffered accidents of a more or less serious nature. Industrial accidents reached the enormous total of 2,000,000 every year.

"Beginning with a handful of young engineers the safety council has grown until nearly 4,000 of the largest business institutions are grouped in a cooperative, nonprofit-taking organization devoted solely to conservation of man power.

"If safety was entirely an engineering problem the task of preventing accidents would be simple. Mechanical safeguards are excellent things, but no piece of mechanism has ever been made 'foolproof.'

"Safety implies education, and the acquisition of safe practices and safety thinking by the workman is as important as sound business judgment.

"When you hear a plant representative say his organization has touched 50 per cent improvement in safety conditions, then you know the educational safety factor is working among his men. When 75 per cent is reached his employees are thinking safety."

MORE IN PRODUCTIVE WORK

Estimate That 100,000 Registrants Were Affected Under the Order to "Work or Fight."

An official estimate that 100,000 registrants had been forced into productive employment through operations of the draft "work or fight" rule was made by Provost Marshal General Crowder. It is expected that a number equally as large will be turned over from nonproductive to essential employment when the rule is applied to the 13,000,000 registrants enrolled in the eighteen to forty-five draft classes.

Since there will be a larger percentage of men in the upper draft ages given deferred classification, it is probable a large number will be required to take up war work jobs to retain this deferred classification.

Of the first draft, General Crowder's figures show that up to August 25, 52,826 registrants in 44 states had been haled before local boards on account of idleness or nonproductive occupations.
